

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Charming pink and white appointments prevailed at a delightfully arranged children's party at which Mrs. C. A. Port was hostess Saturday afternoon at her home in Lincoln avenue in honor of the second birthday of her little daughter, Martha Irene Port. A delicious luncheon was served, covers for 12 being laid at a small table arranged in a bay window of the prettily decorated dining room. The center of the table held a large bouquet of pink tulips interspersed with maiden hair fern, while the candles and dainty place cards were in rose designs. There was a birthday cake, with two pink candles, denoting the age of the little honor guest. Attached to the favors, which were small pink baskets, were pink ribbons extending to a large bunny, which hung from the ceiling. Little Martha Irene presented each of her small guests with an Easter greeting. Mrs. Martha Port was unable to be present, but presented her great granddaughter with Easter greetings and a gift. The guests were Mrs. C. R. Port, Mrs. L. M. Santmyer, grandmothers of the honor guest, Mrs. W. P. Schoeck and baby, Mrs. William Brown and daughter, Betty Mae; Mrs. S. C. Whipple and sons; Jim and Tom; Mrs. John Brown, and son, Bobby; Mrs. H. K. Lewis and son, Jimmie; Margaret Jean and Helen Lang, Olive and Esther Deterville; Mrs. Clarence Hoyer and son, Charles. Mrs. Port was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Mrs. George Lang.

NEW MEMBERS RECEIVED

Thirty-Eight Added Yesterday to the M. P. Church at Perry.

Easter was a big day in the history of the Methodist Protestant church at Perry, of which Rev. W. H. Gladden of Greenwood, is the pastoral supply. There were to have been 50 members received into the church but on account of almost an epidemic of grip in that community, and others having to work, the number was reduced to 38, just one new member for each year the pastor has been preaching. Thirty-four persons were baptized. Rev. Gladden devoted only half time to this church, and because of his impaired health, was unable to undertake a series of revival services. He therefore preached a series of sermons on the subject, "Lay Evangelism," or the Common Priesthood of Believers. Nearly half the new members received into the church yesterday were heads of families. Among those baptized were Mrs. Clark, wife of Prof. Clark, and her twin babies. Prof. Clark and three soldiers from Camp Gordon were among the new members.

Brennan and Mrs. O'Connor Campbell, sisters, and John Campbell, son of the latter, all of Pittsburg.

ROADS IN FINE SHAPE

Motorists Report Them in Condition Like Midsummer.

Baum. The pastor, Rev. H. A. Baum, baptized 16 children and young people; received a class of 23 into preparatory membership and read the certificates of 18 adults who came into fellowship of the church.

To match the black satin coat with its bandings of white, this skirt has coin spots of black satin set on at regular intervals above the hem.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Eggs and "they says" are brittle; beware. For an egg once broken, and a "they says" once spoken, will never, no never, become whole by repair.

AN ONION A DAY.

The good old odoriferous bulb when it is digested and enjoyed should appear often (at least twice a week in some form) on our tables. The onion contains a richness of mineral matter and acids most healthful in keeping the body in condition. Steak smothered in onions is a dish well liked by most. Slice the onions and crisp them in cold water and dry quickly in a cloth, then drop them into a frying pan with a little hot oil; put in the steak and cover it after both sides are well browned with the onions. Cover and let cook a few minutes and serve piping hot with the onions.

Onions on Toast.—Chop six onions fine, then hold them 20 minutes in a little salted water. Drain and add a tablespoonful of butter and serve on buttered toast in tiny mounds, the top of each garnished with a sprig of parsley.

Onions unpeeled, thrown into a bed of coals, covered and allowed to roast until tender, may be peeled without loss, seasoned with salt, pepper, cream or butter, and served, making a dish especially tasty.

Onions With Cheese.—This is a dish which will take the place of meat, as it is highly nutritious. Place a layer of cheese, finely minced, and a layer of rich white sauce in a baking dish; repeat until the dish is full, and cover with a thick layer of buttered crumbs. Bake until thoroughly hot. A rich cheese should be used, as the heating will often make an inferior cheese stringy.

MUST KEEP FAITH.

There is but one kind of vacation
the men of Connelville should consider taking this year, and that is a vacation on a farm in this vicinity.Here they can obtain all the needed relaxation from the cares of business by their daily avocations and at the same time prove themselves to be unselfish, patriotic and public-spirited citizens.There is so alarming a scarcity of farm labor, and there will be such premiering need, before another winter has passed, for all the foodstuffs that can be raised during the coming season, that it will be little short of unparagoned for any able-bodied man of the city—merchant, professional man or mechanic—if he does not take a few days from his ordinary pursuits and help in this important undertaking.The relation between a large increase in crops and the ability of the Allies to win the war is so vital that men who can, but do not, help meet the situation, will be shirking their duty as citizens just as clearly as will those who can render military service, but do not. By the public at large they will be accounted as having a more selfish interest in their individual affairs, or personal comfort or ease, than they have in the national welfare.The farmers of this section have enthusiastically accepted the offer of the men of the city to provide farm labor during the coming season. Upon the assurance that assistance in this form will be available they have already begun to plan for the season's planting. This will be on a large scale than they would have undertaken had no opportunity been in sight
to increase their working forces.This understanding creates an obligation between the men of the city and the farmers which cannot be disregarded if faith is to be kept. Not only that; it places squarely upon the men of Connelville the responsibility of insuring the success of a larger crop campaign. To accomplish all the purposes of the plan the number of men of the city volunteering for this service should be large so that there will be no occasion for the farmers to say at the close of the season that they were disappointed or were unable to accomplish all that they had planned or hoped to do.A meeting is to be held tonight at 8 o'clock for farm work and to plan an organization of the forces.A number of men have already volunteered their services, but they are by no means a sufficient number. Those who have not yet signified their willingness to join in the work should not delay doing so. The service they will render will not be without compensation, hence the excuse cannot be made that they cannot afford to take the time to make the plan. Such a success as will reflect credit upon Con-nelville, keep faith with the farmers and prove our unselfish patriotism.

FEW REAL SLACKERS.

According to the popular notion the number of draft slackers in Pennsylvania is very large. According to the data collected by Adjutant General Beary, the number of those who willfully evaded service after registration is very small.Thus far there has been returned to the adjutant general's office the names of 6,000 delinquents, which is but one per cent of the 600,000 men who registered in Pennsylvania last June.Adjutant General Beary estimates that at least one-fourth of the men whose names are among the delinquents are now in the military service through enlistment before the time of registration and their call to report for examination by the local boards. Of the remainder it is believed many are employed in railroad and other construction gangs or some employment that keeps them shifting about from place to place. In many instances these men are colored or foreigners and attempts to locate them have failed.By the authorities the true slacker
is held to be the man who evaded
registration, and who, as of course, escaped draft. Out of the 6,000 delinquents it is believed that there are fewer than 100 who have purposely refused to answer the summons to report for duty.If this estimate is borne out by the facts Pennsylvania's record is not asbad as it looks. To make it what it really should be, as well as playing fair with the men who have had the courage to come up to all the requirements of the law, no effort should be spared in tracing out the real slackers and promptly inducing them into the service.

LET US PAY OUR DEBTS.

By William Chauncey, London.

T. E. Chittenden, Lincoln's Register of the Treasury, tells in his "Personal Recollection of President Lincoln" of the anonymous Englishman who came forward in 1862 to lend the United States $5,000,000, and the herculean efforts made to repay him.British shipbuilders were constructing two armored vessels for the Confederacy. Our minister, Charles Francis Adams, secured the issue of a restraining order just in time, but it could not be enforced until damages had been secured by the deposit of $5,000,000 sterling in gold coin, with gold at 160.Where could he get it? There was no Trans-Atlantic cable then. "When he had given up all hope of arresting these vessels, a quiet gentleman called upon him and asked if he might be favored with the opportunity of making the deposit of coin required by the order." The only condition was that his name should not be made known.In this war, many Englishmen—and others—whose names we do not know, have supplied us with money or its value—with munitions, and men, and safety, and immunity from German attacks. To this, our blood-bought benefit, hundreds of thousands of anonymous Englishmen and Frenchmen
and Italians and Belgians have contributed. Shall we not repay them promptly in kind by coming to their aid with money and munitions an-ships and men, to the safety from Germany of those who remain, or of their widows and children? This will cost. Will you help? How much?
How soon?Buy a Liberty Bond and thus pay a little toward the freedom you have enjoyed thus far, as well as contribute toward the ensuring of a like freedom and, we trust, of an even greater Liberty for all in the years to come.The biggest April fool of them all is Kaiser Bill's attempt to fool the German people into believing that his army is achieving the deciding victory of the war.House-hunting has been a real hunt
this season.The employees of the R. C. Frick Coke company, having received their first will be entirely satisfied with the action of the United States Steel Corporation in bringing the wages of other departments up to the 55 per cent advance mark.The consumers who would dodge the 50-55 hour rule will sooner or later find that they don't have more than one chance in 50 of getting away with it.How appropriate was the Kaiser's celebration of the Easterfest by attaining his 75-mile cannon on Paris, killing 75 and wounding 50 worshippers in a church on Good Friday, then trying to find more victims for his baby-killer on Easter morn!Have you, like Puddin' Head Wilson, been remindin' today of what you are on the other side?When the Americans get down to the real business for which they were sent to France you will note a different note in the dispatches from the front.The presence of the Chautauque advance man is another sign that summer is near."Hind's" Paris dinner, planned for today, seems to have been built on the sand, as the Kaiser's meal in the same place on Christmas of 1914.

MOVING
TIME

The annual moving period is here again and this week will see many changes. It is a fact a lot of people move every year, others move as seldom as possible. Sale of property, changes in business, and many conditions frequently make it necessary for people to move and leave a desirable home, but the point we want to get at is that moving-day most always means new furnishings, new furniture, general household equipment, and the real information we want to give you is that the Union Supply Company furniture departments are wonderfully well equipped to take care of your wants. First we can sell you the paints and wall paper to freshen up the house; after that can start you from the kitchen through the dining room, library, living room, parlor, hall, and upstairs to the bedrooms and bath room. Can furnish you shades and curtains for the windows and all the equipment for hanging. Can furnish you oil, coal, or gas ranges and all the other kitchen equipment. Then have china, all kinds of lamps, and have all sorts of house furnishings, including queensware, cutlery. We have complete living room outfits, library outfits, complete assortment of rugs, carpets, linoleums. In fact the furniture department in every one of our stores is equipped fully and you can get just what you want. You can get equally as good assortments as any installment house will show you, and you can buy them at lower prices.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in New York, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Gifted Writers Indolent.

De Quincy has called Coleridge "a man of infinite title pages," and he says he heard Coleridge admit that a list of the books he meditated but never executed would fill a large volume. In this respect the two poets were rivals. Perhaps their fertility in projects was due, as Coleridge fancied, to an overactivity of thought, "modified by a constitutional indolence," and had nothing to do with optimism. On the other hand, De Quincy believed that his opium eating prevented him from writing the book he intended to make his life work, the slow and elaborate result of years of toil, to which he had "resumed to give the title of an unfinished work of Spinoza's, viz., 'De Binudatione Humanitatis Intellectus.'" In a later mood he devised a "Prolegomena to All Future Systems of Political Economy," and made arrangements with a provincial printer for its production, but its author never even got as far as the preface.

Explained.

"What is this civil service business that they are always talking about?" asked the Doob. "What good does it do?"

"It's like this," replied the Cheerful Idiot. "If you have a job and you are not under civil service, they can fire you any time they want to. But if they have a job under civil service they can't fire you unless they want to."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Real Temptation.

"I must not forget to lock up my diamonds," said the cautious woman.

"Never mind about them," replied her husband. "No sensible husband bothers about diamonds. You see that the refrigerator is locked. That has pork chops and a stein steak in it."

WOMAN SAVED MUCH SUFFERING

Bytaking Friend's Advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

West Plains, Mo.—"I was all run down in health, had indigestion and terrible cramps every month so I was unable to do anything. I had tried every doctor in West Plains, also every remedy I could think of, without relief. One day when I was suffering greatly a friend was at my house and said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' So I did, and through it I found relief from my suffering and I really believe it saved my life. It does not seem as though I can say enough in praise of this wonderful medicine for the health it has brought me."—Miss CORA LEE HALL, West Plains, Mo.

Perhaps it may seem an extravagant statement to say that this great remedy saved a life; but women like Mrs. Hall, to whom it has brought health, appreciate the danger and suffering they have escaped too well to doubt it! All who suffer should try it. Why risk life and health without it?

Strive To Have Healthy Skin

Next time you are in a gathering of women note the different conditions apparent in complexion. You will see some with blackheads, some dry and rough, some smooth and glossy, some smeared with rouge, some streaked with heavy metallic powders and once in a while you will see one that is a demonstration of brilliancy from every point of view. The color is rosy, the skin is clear and smooth, the pores are small and open, the powder does not show on the skin. Vigorous skin. Every woman can have a good complexion. It will only cost her a little. It is not a matter of money, but of health. If you would acquire real beauty, the beauty of perfect health, you must replace your worn-out system with health. Nature's own have restored, and put into your blood the invigorating, strengthening, blood-purifying, skin-clearing, and skin-soothing. It is a matter of health. In most of the modern foods these and other vitalizing elements have been largely eliminated. Yet to be healthy and beautiful the system must have them. They are found in Bio-farm, not only in proper proportions to restore weakened vitality but in such form as the system can best assimilate them. ## Somerset Coal Operators Protest Against Priority Car Orders

Dissatisfaction of a most serious nature is breaking forth among coal operators, not only in murmuring, but loud protests against what many characterize as rank favoritism and discrimination in the distribution of empty coal cars at the mines.

Most of the complaints proceed from the enforcement of so called priority orders issued under authority of the Fuel Administration by its myriad committees and minor officials, nearly all of whom are comprised in the so called dollar a year men. The officials of the Fuel Administration is of such numerical strength as to cause the mine operators to feel that according to the statements of coal men, these daily bulletins and orders sufficient to send a whole park of experienced artillery.

And what is more serious still they estimate very strongly that not a few of the daily orders issued by some members of fuel officialdom are designed to work a benefit to their own personal business or the business of the corporations who pay their real salaries and whose interests receive first consideration, above, beyond and ahead of everything else. According to the average coal operator they are sending business and patriotism very heartily, or rather very ugly. One operator says they are mixing patriotism and profit using patriotism as a far west powder. Another said: "They have not asked the old saying of 'business before pleasure' for 'business before patriotism'."

At all events there is a decidedly bitter feeling among coal operators, especially owners of the smaller mines who assert that they are "getting the best end of it" and that the larger operators are getting the best end of it. Many of them who have been influenced on this, or that, or the other of the Fuel Administration, are having matters worked out to advantage their own output at the expense of the smaller mines, by means of priority orders. All coal mines in a given region are rated as to production capacity by the railroad serving that region, and the empty coal cars are distributed among the mines according to their rated capacity. For example: "The production of the region is of course one hundred percent. In cars we will say it is two hundred cars. Mine A is rated at thirty percent capacity of the whole; Mine B, twenty percent and Mine C, ten percent, the remaining forty percent of the whole being divided between twenty-five or thirty, other and smaller mines. If there were two hundred empty cars in the region and distributed equitably, according to percentage, all the mines great and small would have all the cars needed. Now suppose there were but one hundred cars in the region. Equitable distribution, according to production capacity rating, would give A thirty cars, B twenty cars, C ten cars, total sixty; the remaining forty being distributed among the other twenty-five or thirty mines, again according to percentage."

But the Fuel Administration has instituted the famous priority order. A priority order means that a certain number of empty coal cars must be placed at a certain mine or mines regardless of the needs of other mines and arbitrarily aside the distribution of cars on any one day in the week or on all the days of a week, or even on all days of all weeks. The result is that the few mines who are on what the smaller operator calls "favorite list" get all the empty cars, while his empty siding continues empty. For example, following along the line of the distribution percentage shown above: Two hundred cars are equivalent to the full requirements of all the mines in the given region. But there are only one hundred cars available or fifty percent of total requirements. These one hundred cars are not sufficient to give mines A, B and C a full day's loading. Should some authority in the Fuel Administration issue priority orders for fifty cars to be placed at A mine for the Harrison mine's works, forty at B mine for the Arabian Stone Boat Company and twenty at C mine for the Cambio Water works, it would not require a mathematician to figure out that there would be a single car left for any of the other twenty-five or thirty mines.

Operators in the Somerset and Connelville fields in Western Pennsylvania have taken some pains to discover exactly what is being done to their detriment in those regions by the operation of the Fuel Administration's priority orders.

They found that during the month of February the full requirements of all the mines on the division would be 12,240 cars. However only 12,418 cars were available and of these the vast number of 10,776 were placed as a result of priority orders regardless of the percentage basis or the requirements of other mines. These 10,776 cars are known as assigned cars and were not charged against the percentage entitlements of the mines receiving them. There remained therefore only 1,642 cars to be applied to the percentage method of distribution. Had the total number of cars been distributed equitably each mine on the division would have received about sixty-nine percent of the car supply. But being unequally distributed the favored mines received eighty-seven percent and the unfavored mines but thirteen percent of the whole. During the month of February in the Somerset field permanent priority orders to be applied daily were issued by the Fuel Administration as follows:

Mines on Development, 244 cars daily.
B. & O. Railroad fuel, 65 cars daily.
Foreign Railroad fuel, 31 cars daily.
Brothers Valley (McDonald Mine), (New England Fuel Administration), 10 free cars daily.
Consolidation Coal Co. (Edison Elec. Illuminating Co.), 6 assigned cars daily.
(New York Edison Co.), 10 assigned cars daily.
Consolidation Coal Co. (New York Steamboat Co.), 6 assigned cars daily.
Consolidation Coal Co. (Baltimore City Gas Co.), 2 assigned cars daily.
Quemahoning Creek Coal Co. (New York Edison Co.), 6 assigned cars daily.
Quemahoning Creek Coal Co. (Edison Elec. Illuminating Co.), 4 assigned cars daily.
Bird Coal Company. (New York Edison Co.), 4 assigned cars daily.
Bird Coal Company. (Edison Elec. Illuminating Co.), 6 assigned cars daily.
Victor Coal Mining Company. (New England Fuel Administration), 19 free cars daily.
H. C. Erick Coal Company. (By-Product Plant, Benwood, Pa.), 16 assigned cars daily.
Republic Iron & Steel Co. (By-Product Plant, Youngstown, O.), 7 assigned cars daily.

In this manner fully ninety-five percent of all the empty coal cars in these regions are taken out of percentage distribution every day and awarded to a few favored mines. These priority orders applied during the entire month of February and continued with one single exception of ten cars a day, during the entire month of March up to the present date March 25. And in addition to those daily priority orders further and special priorities were issued by J. C. Brydon, Fuel Administrator in the Somerset Region, totaling six hundred and sixty six additional cars for the Army Transport Service as follows:

Brothers Valley Coal Co. 118
Enterprise Coal Co. 12
Atlantic Coal Co. 14
Penn Smokeless Coal Co. 40
Quemahoning Creek Coal Co. 30
Randolph Coal Co. 14
Ira Thomas 4
Valley Smokeless Coal Co. 28
Smokeless Coal Co. 27
Victor Coal Mining Co. 34
Maple Ridge Coal Co. 22
Knickerbocker Coal Co. 22
Stauffer Quemahoning Coal Co. 30
St. M. Hamilton Coal Co. 14
Baker Whately Coal Co. 18
Jenner Quemahoning Coal Co. 138
Merchants Coal Co. 12
Consolidation Coal Co. (Mine H) 12

The thirty and thirty-four cars credited respectively to the Quemahoning Creek Coal Company and the Victor Coal Co. were not loaded due to the fact that they were already receiving one hundred percent of their requirements. It may be stated in passing that Mr. Brydon, the local fuel administrator for the Somerset field, is also President of the Quemahoning Creek Coal Co. Another striking example of dual officiality is exemplified in Mr. Arthur Hale who is at one and the same time vice-president of the Consolidation Coal Co., and chairman of the Tidewater Coal Exchange a party created under the direction of the governmental authorities at Washington. The Consolidation Coal Company, in addition to the favors as shown in the tables above, have been and are still reaping the benefits of like consideration priority treatment on the lines of the Western Maryland R. R. in the Somerset field in Pennsylvania, in the West Virginia field and also in Maryland on the Cumberland & Pennsylvania. From the above statements of figures it will be readily seen that the several hundred mines in the Connelville and Somerset fields do not fare very well.

One of the prominent operators of the Connelville district in commenting upon the situation expressed himself as follows: "An old and venerable line honored, true saw runs thus: 'There is always a wheel within a wheel.' This little observation may not have proceeded from Solomon, but it certainly did come from a somewhere well of wisdom. For in all human affairs self interest lies at the bottom of most of our doings and is the mainspring of most of our actions, especially so when are involved matters of business."

In ordinary times one may descend upon one's civic duty; point with "unerring prophecy" (cave phrase of the politician) to this or that public necessity and the certainty of a generous response on the part of those who must pay the bills; later the politician now become a statesman, points with "pardonable pride" to the same "achievements which I have wrought with emphasis a hundred pounds to the square inch on the personal position. The fellows who paid the bills (most of all taxes) and bore the brunt of the labor of the campaign, and who very naturally supposed therefore that they had played some commendable part, begin to question, whether or not they really had had anything at all whatsoever to do with the projects. Or was not their obsession simply a pleasing, or it may be, a bad dream, according to one's frame of mind."

"Times like the present, war times, with all their excitement and strenuousness, afford opportunities, wonderful and widespread, for the exercise of the skillful blending of patriotism and profit, the one often a mere profession, a camouflage, the other a positive 'accomplishment,' the one made to serve the other. There are, you know, pseudo patriots as well as real patriots."

"The exigencies of our nation in this year of 1918 are such as to require patriotism, the purest, the most devoted, the most self-sacrificing, patriotism unadorned and unadulterated. We have this type in abundant measure, but unhappily we have too pseudo patriots in large number. The coal trade furnishes no exception and in it the pseudo patriots burrow and undermine their fellows with impunity and with the greater safety since they are protected by authority which they themselves create and promulgate through the governmental official positions they hold. No man in the coal business ought to be in governmental authority through the exercise of which he is enabled to further his own interests. The priority order is the bane of all coal operations in this and other districts and ought not to be tolerated. It is susceptible of the most flagrant abuses and pernicious results, harmful alike to the real interests of the government as well as to the operators who suffer irreparable loss and injury thereby."

Pure Blood and Weak Nerves

Lack of strength is about the first symptom of violation of the laws of health. Then comes nervousness, unsteady hands and limbs, dizziness, sleeplessness, heart palpitation, loss of flesh, and with the feeling that the life-blood is being sapped comes complete prostration. In this condition the sufferer is indifferent to all things whimsical and on the verge of decay. Many people in the United States are suffering from nervous debility, and of these just that half realize it. They know that they have gloomy thoughts, a depression of mind, an impaired memory, dizziness, and headache, wakeful nights and spells of extreme exhaustion, but they attribute it to any other cause than the right one. They feel anxious, irritable and restless, the why and wherefore of which they cannot explain. They are suffering from nervous debility, a condition which is undoubtedly the means of causing more misery and crushing more hopes than any other trouble that human flesh is heir to. Nervous exhaustion will not cure itself. The sufferer who thinks that nature alone will bring about a restoration of health is simply deluded by a false hope. They will realize it the power of realization is left them when they become a hopeless victim to one of the terrible diseases which their debilitated condition invites; when paralysis, softening of the brain, locomotor ataxia, spinal meningitis or consumption begins its relentless work. Many nervous debility cases are the result of overwork or violation of nature's laws are quickly restored to sound and vigorous health by our system of treatment.

Are You from Heaven?

How welcome this catchy all-sentiment love song really is! Not a hint of war; not a trace of cold common sense. Just winsome melody and affection.

And when you hear this clever appealing refrain sung by Henry Burr on this new Victor April record you straightway fall in love with the song itself. An equally unusual and excellent reverse—"Give Me the Right to Love You" by Sterling Trio No. 18435—75c

And how appropriately Alma Gluck's "Darling Nellie Gray" becomes a leader in this list. The tender old refrain takes on an added simplicity and charm under this new interpretation No. 64729—$1

It's a laugh just to say, "I'd Like to Be a Monkey in the Zoo." To hear something really funny listen to Frances White sing this and also "Co-Zin-To." This record will laugh itself into your record library the minute you hear it. No. 45149—$1.

To many Henry Burr's "Just a Baby's Prayer at Twilight" for a soldier daddy is one of the beautiful touches of the year's music. An excellent reverse—"On the Road to Home, Sweet Home." No. 18339—75c

It will give us genuine pleasure to play any of the new April records for you—at any time.

RAINBOW'S END A NOVEL BY REX BLEACH

THE IRON TRAIL "THE SCOUTERS" "HEART OF THE SUNSET" ETC.
COPYRIGHT, BY MARSH AND BROTHERS.

Rosa could only stare dully. "It seems we released them," said Cueto.

"More of your bungling," Cueto broke out at him, wrathfully. "Poor! I've a mind to toss you into that fire." He turned his attention once more to Rosa, and with a jerk that shook her into fuller consciousness repeated: "Where are they? Speak to me!"

"Gone!" she gasped. "Gone!" She struggled weakly toward Cueto, imploring him, "Fascia, don't you know me?"

"Well, we've taught him a lesson," said Cueto, grinning appreciatively at Rosa. "We've accomplished something, anyhow. Oh! He noticed at Rosa. 'That's all that I told you, look at her!'"

Cueto took time to scratch his head.

"Can't she be a pretty little spy—quite a prize, truly. Now, then? Eh? Think, Rosa, she spoke to me—her nose fairly. 'I want you to tell me about that brother of yours, eh? Cueto said I would find him here. Ha! Still frightened, I see. Well, I have a way with women; I don't say at her. She brushed the tears from her eyes, crying: "Go away! In God's name haven't you done harm enough?"

"Oh, but you're going with me." The girl rose; her face was colorless; she was quivering with indignation. "Leave me!" she screamed. "What have I done to you? Don't—"

"Caramba! A temper. And you have strength, too, as I discovered. Must I bind those pretty hands?"

Colonel Cobo reached forth, laughing, and encircled her in his powerful arms. Rosa fought him as she had fought at the first moment of desperation, but he lifted her easily and went striding across the field behind his men.

Esteban's party made good time over the hills and into the San Juan. For Asensio knew the country well. Mid-afternoon found them in sight of La Jora. Cueto's cane was thick and high; it was ready for the knife or for the torch. The incendiaries dismounted in the shelter of a wood and removed the bags which they had carried on their saddles. Inside these bags were several snakes, the largest perhaps eight feet in length. To the tail of each the negroes fastened a length of telegraph wire, the end of which had been bent into a loop to hold a bundle of oil-soaked waste. These preliminaries accomplished, they bore the reptiles into the cane fields at widely separated places and lit the waste.

Soon tongues of flame appeared and the green tops of the cane began to shrivel and to wave as the steady east wind took effect. Smoke billowed upward and was hurried westward before the breeze; in a dozen places the fields burst into flame, from somewhere came a faint shouting, then a shot or two, and finally the ringing of a bell.

Esteban waited only until he saw that his work of devastation was well under way, then he led his followers back toward the hills.

In the shelter of a ravine the party took time to eat supper; their first meal since leaving home, and it was after dark when they finished. The negroes, who were thoroughly tired, were for spending the night here, but Esteban, more cautious than they, would not have it so. Accordingly, the men remounted their weary horses, though not without some grumbling, and set out. At length they crossed the summit and worked down toward the Yumuri, but it seemed as if daylight would never come.

Esteban suddenly reined in his horse. "Look!" said he. "Yonder is a light."

"What is Evangelina thinking about?" Asensio muttered.

"But, see! It grows brighter." There followed a moment or two during which there was no sound except the breathing of the horses and the creak of saddle leathers as the riders craned their necks to see over the low tree tops before them. Then Esteban cried:

"Come! I'm afraid it's our house." Fear gripped him, but he managed to say, calmly, "Perhaps there has been an accident."

Asensio, muttering excitedly, was trying to crowd past him; for a few yards the two horses brushed along side by side. The distant point of light had become a glare now; it winked balefully through the openings as the party hurried toward it. But it was still a long way off, and the eastern sky had grown rosy before the dense woods of the hillside gave way to the sparser growth of the low ground.

Esteban turned a sick, white face over his shoulder and jerked out his orders; then he kicked his tired mount into a swifter gallop. It was he who first broke out into the clearing. One glance, and the story was told.

The hut was but a crumbling skeleton of charred poles. Strung out and by that time he had covered half the distance to his sister. A bullet brought his horse down and the boy went flying over its neck. Nothing but the loose loam saved him from injury. As he rose to his feet, breathless and covered with the red dirt, there came a swift chattering of hoofs and Asensio swept past him like a rocket. Esteban caught one glimpse of the negro's face, a fleeing vision of white teeth bared to the gums, of distended yellow eyes, of flat, distorted features; then Asensio was fairly upon Colonel Cobo. The colonel, who had dropped his burden, now tried to dodge. Asensio slashed once at him with his long, murderous machete, but the next instant he was engaged with a trooper who had fired almost in his face.

Cobo's men, led by the terrified Pancho Cueto, turned and fled for cover, believing themselves in danger of annihilation. Not was the colonel himself in any condition to rally them, for Asensio's blade had cloven one full dark cheek to the bone, and the shock and pain had unnerved him.

The field was small, the jungle was close at hand. A moment and the incendiaries had vanished into it, all but one, who lay kicking among the broad malanga leaves, and over whom Asensio kept spurring his terrified horse, backing downward with insane fury.

This was the first hand-to-hand encounter Esteban's men had had, and their swift victory rendered them ferocious. Flinging their guns aside, they went crashing into the brush on the trail of their enemies.

Rosa found herself in her brother's arms, sobbing out the story of the outrage and quivering at every sound of the chase. He was cursing her, and telling her to have no further fears; both of them were fairly hysterical. Evangelina, thanks to her thick skull, was not dead. In the course of time under Rosa's and Esteban's ministrations she regained her senses, and when the other men returned, they found her lying sick and dazed, but otherwise quite whole.

Then, there beside the ruins of the hut, was a strange scene of rejoicing. Asensio recovered now from his bout of savagery, was tearful, compassionate; his comrades laughed and chattered and bragged about their prodigious deeds of valor. Over and over they recounted their versions of the encounter, each more fanciful than the other, until it seemed that they must have left the forest filled with corpses.

Esteban was grave. He had heard of Colonel Cobo, and, remembering that death-clad figure out yonder in the trampled garden, he knew that serious consequences would follow. The volunteers were reynegado; their colonel was not the sort of man to forgive a deep humiliation. Doubtless he would put a price upon the heads of all of them, and certainly he would never allow them another encounter upon anywhere like these terms. Then, too, the narrowness of Rosa's escape caused the boy's heart to dissolve with terror.

After a conference with Asensio he decided that they must prepare for flight, and late that afternoon they all set out to seek a safer refuge, Evangelina in tears at leaving her precious garden plot. Their led horse, one of those Lorenzo had captured, carried a pitifully light burden—only some tools, some pans and kettles, and a roll of charred bedclothes.

AARON COMPANY 27 YEARS IN BUSINESS IN CONNELLSVILLE

Anniversary Will Be Observed During the Next Two Weeks.

WAS FOUNDED IN 1891

Since Then Prosperous Local Furniture House Has Had Rapid Growth and Now Ranks Among the Largest Exclusive Establishments in State.

A birthday celebration will be in progress at Aaron's during the next two weeks—an event that will be a most fitting occasion to mark the close of their 27th year as homefurnishers in Fayette county.

In the year 1891 the Aaron Company was founded, and as is usually the case with all the long established successful business of today, the start was small and humble indeed. But the sound and honest business policies and methods employed and followed out gained public faith and confidence from the beginning. It is quite natural then that Aaron's has grown and prospered.

During the 27 years that followed there were times of plenty when all were prosperous. Then, too, there were times of adversity which brought with them many different forms of disaster. Aaron's enjoyed these times of prosperity and being firmly established on a solid foundation of sound principles from the start—they were able to offer a very strong resistance and triumphantly survived during the lean periods. That's why today Aaron's is one of the very few concerns in Conneltsville who enjoy even now these present quarters are for over a quarter century.

The greatly increased business made it necessary to secure larger quarters from time to time and in 1904 the present big six story building was planned and this structure was completed in 1907. This building is occupied exclusively by Aaron's which makes it one of the largest institutions in Fayette county. And even now these present quarters are crowded to their capacity.

To a statement that this growth has been rather marvelous, Mr. Aaron modestly replied that there really was nothing to marvel at. Because Aaron's always have made it a policy to carry only the better, reliable grades of homefurnishings, to advertise truthfully, to offer the largest values made possible only through an immense four-store buying power, to extend to every customer a courteous helpful sales service, to arrange convenient terms of payment and to guarantee each and every customer complete satisfaction. And it was simply in appreciation of these policies that Fayette county folks supported this institution and that they themselves were directly responsible for its steady growth.

And to celebrate this 27th anniversary in a most fitting way, in a way that those who have been directly responsible for this success can share in this celebration—Aaron's have made special birthday prices on every article in their store. Extensive preparations have been made. Manufacturers and wholesalers were prevailed upon to offer their assistance in this great celebration and they responded most liberally by aiding in every way that their possibly could.

Everything is in readiness, not a single detail has been overlooked to make this celebration the big success that it will undoubtedly be.

OUR BOYS IN FRANCE
The men on the firing line represent the pick of our American youth. One in four of our boys at home was sick, rejected because of physical deficiency. Many times the kidneys were to blame.

If we wish to prevent old age coming on too soon, or if we want to increase our chances for a long life, Dr. Pierce's of the Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., says that you should drink plenty of water daily between meals. Then procure at your nearest drug store Anuric (double strength). This Anuric drives the uric acid out and cures backache.

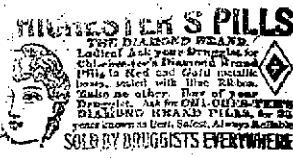

If we wish to keep our kidneys in the best condition, a diet of milk and vegetables, with only little meat once a day, is the most suitable. Drink plenty of pure water, take Anuric three times a day for a month.

MILLERSBURG, Pa.—"First I had grip, then pneumonia, then kidney and bladder trouble. Kidney secretion was high colored. I got sick on November 12th and laid up till February 18th, when I began to use the Anuric Tablets. I told my doctor, and he said, 'That's all right, keep on with them'; so I did. I am now perfectly well and work hard."—WM. D. SKYRM, Box 391, Railroad and Market Sts., Clarion, Pa.—"I have been suffering for years from disordered kidneys, backache and headache. I doctored with several doctors and tried several other medicines, but with no avail. I at last began taking Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets and they have cured me of my backache and headache, and I have better health now than I have had for 21 years. I am now able to do my work, go to church, and do a lot of walking. I have a splendid appetite and sleep well and feel good in the morning."—MRS. CHARLES E. HANCOCK.

The Change of Time and How It Effects This Store

By action of Congress the daylight-saving time change goes into effect Sunday morning.

In compliance with this plan, the clocks at this store will be moved forward one hour at closing time Saturday night.

Beginning Monday morning the store will open as usual at 8 A. M. and close as usual at 5:30 P. M. but according to the government's NEW time schedule.

The CORSET is the Base of All GOOD Dressing

The dress may be elegant in design, perfect in every detail, but the effect is easily spoiled if the corset is not of the correct cut and properly fitted.

Figure fashion changes as quickly as dress fashion—in effect the corset is changed with the dress fashion. So each season brings its new corset.

New Redfern CORSETS for Spring Are Here

Whether you fancy the straight lines some of the Spring styles affect, or the well-defined waist-line that seems quite as fashionable, your REDFERN CORSET will be the greatest factor in the success of your new wardrobe.

At $3.50 to $6.50—there is a model for every figure. Choose yours today.

Longcloth and Nainsook Contracted for Long Ago

Many mills are refusing to take orders because of the scarcity and the rapidly advancing prices of raw cotton. And government contracts, too, must be given preference. Buy while you can do so at such a price advantage.

Yard wide Longcloths—in 10 yard bolts at $2.15 and $2.05.

Yard-wide, American made Nainsooks—in 12 yard bolts at $2.25, $2.50 and $3.50 a bolt.

These New Laces Will Interest All Planning Summer Frocks

New ideas are many, for these laces are different from any that have come before.

The most open-work meshes—dier and hexagon principally—delicately traced with a design of embroidery.

They are in deep bounces and with bands to be used as trimmings for Summer frocks or girls' evening dresses.

Silk-and-Wool Poplins Again to the Fore

With each recurring Spring their popularity renews itself, for they give excellent service, are light in weight, and make up into handsome dresses, suits and skirts. Here in a complete line of lovely shades at $1.75 a yard.

Exclusive Silks

Lovely new CHENEY FOULARDS are conspicuous in the collection of Silks for spring, and are wonderfully varied in design and coloring, 40 inches wide and splendid values at $2.50 the yard.
